

Why are leading companies offering networked EV charging to their employees?

Whatever your business, offering EV charging is good for business.

BENEFITS

- + Win over employees
- + Improve corporate image
- + Meet sustainability goals
- + Generate measurable ROI

KEY BENEFIT FOR YOUR DRIVERS

Up to 5% raise and HOV lane access

BOTTOM LINE FOR YOU

Win big with employees for a few dollars a day

FEATURED CUSTOMERS

Time is money. Give your employees both.

Give them up to a 5% raise. Save your employees thousand of dollars in gas purchases

Give them the gift of time. Save hundreds of commute hours by getting your employees into the HOV lane

Give them an incentive to get an EV. EVs are more reliable, more fun, and more economical

Only with networked EV charging can you:

- + Provide your employees with visibility to station availability and status
- + Ensure your employees get access to the charging stations provided
- + Connect your employees to ChargePoint's network of over 13,500 charging spots (70%+ of all public networked chargers)
- + Alert your employees to charging status and charging completion

Revenue up, costs down. Check.

Increase employee productivity and satisfaction. Thousands of hours saved in traffic means more time at work

Manage energy costs. Use our advanced software to minimize your energy costs

Monetize your asset. With pricing and access control, drive the revenue and the behavior you want from drivers

Only with networked EV charging can you:

- + Provide visibility to station usage and status
- + Get the flexibility to monetize your asset
- + Enjoy hassle-free 24/7 remote support
- + Manage energy usage and costs
- + Scale your charging for future growth
- + Generate usage reports and analytics

“We are excited about the opportunity to directly support our employees' personal sustainability choices.”
